

JCP	January 2000 Vol 53 No 1
JOURNAL OF CLINICAL PATHOLOGY
Special Millennial Issue
Editorials
1	The New Millennium: time for a change! H Holzel, P J van Diest
	Reflections on the first issue of JCP
3	Microbiology H Holzel
4	Haematology M M Reid
4	On "Familial intestinal polyposis" by C E Dukes P J van Diest
5	Giant cell arteritis at the millennium G P Spickett
6	Chemical pathology: what has changed? M A Crook
Millennial reviews
7	The pathologist in the 21st century—generalist or specialist? N Kirkham
10	Continuous professional development in pathology: a continental view F T Bosman
13	The future of scientific communication in pathology J Crocker
16	Fear or favour? Statistics in pathology A Wade
19	Molecular techniques: divide or share M Baxter
22	Robotics into the millennium R Swaminathan, M Wheeler
27	Near patient testing and pathology in the new millennium M A Crook
31	Future directions in quantitative pathology: digital knowledge in diagnostic pathology P H Bartels
38	Is H&E morphology coming to an end? H Fox
41	Cervical cytology after 2000: where to go? C J L M Meijer, J M M Walboomers
44	Xenotransplantation—2000 M J Goddard, J E Foweraker, J Wallwork
49	Immunotherapy of AML: future directions M W Lowdell, M B C Koh
55	Therapeutic trials in childhood ALL: what's their future? O B Eden
60	Immunogenetics: changing the face of immunodeficiency A M Jones, H B Gaspar
66	Infection and antimicrobial prescribing control in the new millennium: nightmare or nirvana? B Cookson
71	Molecular bacteriology: a diagnostic tool for the millennium T L Pitt, N A Saunders
76	Quantitative molecular virology in patient management W Preiser, B Elzinger, N S Brink
Letters
84	Candidal infection is uncommon in acute oesophagitis: evidence from a non-selected DGH population L J Baldwin, D N Poller
84	Dihydrate birefringent calcium oxalate or Weddellite calcification C Ortiz-Hidalgo
85	The risk of infection transmission by blood transfusion in England S Dawson; reply K Soldan, J Barbara
85	An assessment of the artefacts introduced by mounting two parallel sections from each histological level of cervical punch biopsies M K Heatley
Miscellanea
86	Book reviews • Notices
48	Molecular Pathology , contents

